COMPLIANCE WITHOUT BORDERS

Gone are the days of focusing only on your laws; no longer are problems contained in single jurisdictions. Globalisation, supranational organisations (FATF, OECD, G7, G20), international transparency initiatives (CRS, FATCA, De-risking) and the long arm of powerful nations have erased all national boundaries. Compliance is now without borders. Listen as the issues facing the entire region are discussed, the successes highlighted, how together and without borders we can withstand, survive and prosper!

Christopher Louard, Eastern Caribbean Central Bank (St. Kitts)

9:45am - 10:45am

ON/OFFSHORE - PART 2: DE-RISKING TO A FAULT - AFTER OBLIVION THEN WHAT?

De-risking is a hot button issue in the Caribbean region. While it is not a new phenomenon, the stakes are higher now than they have been before. Compliance practitioners must now function in a chaotic environment where change is not only constant but oftentimes also irrational. The institutions they serve must be mindful of the difficulties of compliance. Furthermore, given the possible debilitating implications of de-risking they must become more engaged in financial innovation that will enable them to remain in business, serve the best interests of their customers, and assist more general economic development in the jurisdictions where they operate.

Dr. Christopher P. Malcolm, The University of the West Indies (Jamaica)

12:05pm - 12:50pm

THE FUTURE IS HERE: ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE AND COMPLIANCE

Artificial intelligence and machine learning are revolutionizing compliance around the world. Machine learning is a field in artificial intelligence that utilizes algorithms to extract knowledge from historical data. This process transforms traditional transaction monitoring by predicting and prioritizing suspicious activity review and focusing resources on transactions warranting the most attention. This break-out session will explain the basics of AI and show how “first in class” compliance departments are using it to make the best use of data, enhance institutional responsiveness to changes in activity, and decrease false positive and increase true positive rates.
